Dear Students, Parents and Alumni:

You may have read the June 5 edition of Time Magazine in which something called Twitter was featured on the cover. As an example of social networking, Twitter and other platforms have become a popular way for both young and old to communicate.

I am pleased to announce that Morris Catholic is embracing what is now known as Web 2.0 technologies, Twitter being just one example. On the Media tab on our website, you'll find a home for the various ways in which Morris Catholic is becoming a hub for networking and great ideas. In just the past few weeks we've launched the following:

- A Facebook page for Alumni
- A podcast series called "MC in the Spotlight"
- The President's Blog
- The MC Twitter account

Whether you currently use Facebook or read blogs, I'm confident that you'll enjoy the new faces (and voices) of Morris Catholic. I'm especially grateful to Mr. Matthew Alpaugh, Director of Communications and Alumni for his work behind the scenes regarding this work. My hope is that you'll embrace these new efforts to reach out and connect with the broader Morris Catholic community.

Best regards in Christ,

Michael St. Pierre
